

Amkette Black Diamond Desktop ingrained with metal plate for stability

07th May, 2010

<http://www.techshout.com/gadgets/2010/07/amkette-black-diamond-desktop-ingrained-with-metal-plate-for-stability/>

Early in January this year, Amkette had wowed technology enthusiasts in India with its Flash TV in black. Now, the company brings its next generation wireless and keyboard mouse combo to the country. Amkette shares the release of the new Black Diamond desktop in India that literally comes with a 'backbone' in the form of the embedded metal plate.

Following in the footsteps of the Freedom from Desk keyboard with an inbuilt mouse, this sturdy desktop is infused with an embedded metal plate for added stability. Claiming to be a distinct merger of wireless freedom and contemporary design, the stylish yet brawny desktop offers an enhanced computing experience.

Users are offered the convenience and comfort of advanced computing in an elegant desktop that should free them from the hassles of wires. Users are proffered higher stability and advanced technology that should help ease out their working time.

"The most important innovation is that we have embedded a metal plate at the back of the keyboard, for extra stability. This makes the keyboard slimmer yet solid. With its chic glossy finish, it looks like it has been delicately carved out of stone – A Black Diamond." mentioned Rajiv Bapna, Director, Amkette. The keyboard feature concave shaped keys for low resistance typing and additionally has 9 multimedia keys for one touch access to internet & multimedia functions.

The duo is ergonomically fabricated and is based on the 2.4GHz technology essentially translating to up to 10m of wireless freedom. Boasting of an advanced power management system, this wireless module takes up very little power. It goes into the sleep mode when not in use for over 4 minutes, thus saving on battery power.

The keyboard specifically is incorporated with a metal plate and adorns a super slim and compact design. Users can look forward to a comfortable typing experience with the keyboard's concave keys designed for low resistance keying. 9 dedicated hot multimedia keys are also included for applications and media control.

As for the mouse, it too boasts of a slim design. The full size mouse is sleek yet ergonomically tailored for skilful use. In spite of its glossy finish, it alleges to keep fingerprints to a minimum. The integrated 2.4GHz wireless technology with 800 DPI optical engine allows high definition wireless freedom.

The Black Diamond desktop is backed by a 3 years warranty and can be acquired from all Amkette resellers for a price of Rs 1,600.

